FOREWORD

It has not been our wish in compiling this, the 1929 NEKA CAMON, to construct a large volume or write a new specification for annual making, but, in the following pages, to fix in your mind the pleasant memories of State Teachers' College by making this edition a faithful record of one college year.

If in later years, when memories have been dimmed and remembrances have faded, it helps you to live 'again the days spent here, the pleasure of service will have been ours.

Farewell to the Retiring President

WITH unqualified confidence in him and unbounded affection for him, we have bidden farewell to President Joe Cook, whose sure hand, whose consummate wisdom, whose devoted heart guided the affairs of State Teachers College during the first seventeen years of its history.

A graduate of Vanderbilt University, an experienced educator; endowed with great common sense, with splendid social qualities, with a fine sense of humor; being industrious, tactful, optimistic, kind and sympathetic, he was the very man to guide the institution through the breakers of its first discouraging years and out into the open sea of glorious prospect.

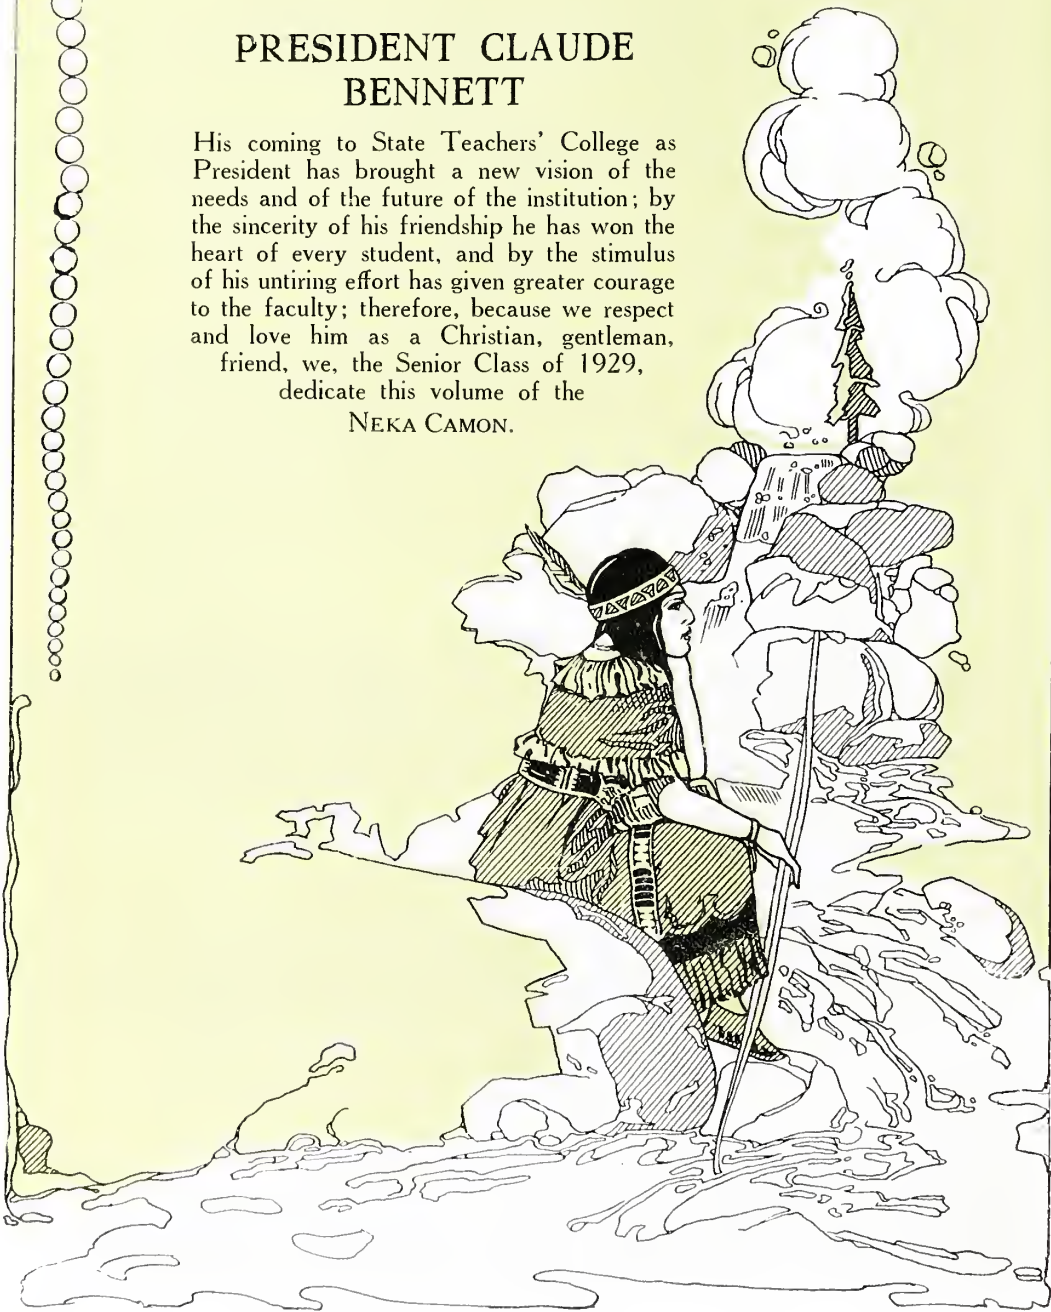

When he organized the faculty and arranged the course of study for the opening of the first session he wisely sought to adapt everything to the educational conditions that existed in Mississippi at that time. As the situation changed, he steadily increased the course of study, enlarged and strengthened the faculty and added to the equipment. He wrought wisely and well. Considering the conditions, he accomplished marvels. Mississippi will never be able to pay him the debt of gratitude that she owes him. Let him be remembered as a man who trusted God, loved humanity and worked.

DEDICATION

to

PRESIDENT CLAUDE BENNETT

His coming to State Teachers' College as President has brought a new vision of the needs and of the future of the institution; by the sincerity of his friendship he has won the heart of every student, and by the stimulus of his untiring effort has given greater courage to the faculty; therefore, because we respect and love him as a Christian, gentleman, friend, we, the Senior Class of 1929, dedicate this volume of the NEKA CAMON.

CLAUDE BENNETT
President
M.A. Peabody College

In Memoriam

Herbert L. McCleskey

Born October 2, 1871; Graduate, University of Mississippi, June, 1899; Married to Miss Hortense McClure, October 10, 1900; Graduate, Peabody College for Teachers (M.A. Degree), 1925; Died, October 8, 1928.

Superintendent of Schools at Shuqualak, Miss., Fayette, Miss., Hazelhurst, Miss., 1899 to 1916.

Head of Department of Health and Registrar, State Teachers' College, 1916 to 1928.

Served as Secretary and later as President of Mississippi State Teachers' Association. Served as Editor of the Mississippi Educational Advance and as District Superintendent of Army Schools with headquarters at Paris, France.

Deacon in First Baptist Church, Hattiesburg, Miss.; member of Kiwanis Club, Knight Templar. Scholar, Gentleman, Teacher, Citizen, Christian.

He worked efficiently, he suffered patiently, he served lovingly.

The students loved him, the faculty trusted him, the world admired him. "He rests from his labors and his works do follow him." Such men were not born to die.

*There was a charming little girl who came to S. T. C.,
She had so many charming traits, them all we could not see,
She did so very many things and did them all so well,
How we could have done without her would be hard for us to tell.*

Mac's ever-ready smile and cheerful words have won for him the respect of the faculty and the admiration of the student body. As a student he is one of S. T. C.'s greatest assets, and he has taken an active part in the promotion of every college activity. With his strong will, personality and leadership we predict nothing but success.

Although "Simp" is endowed with a silver tongue, he is by no means a singer. The easy and seemingly care-free manner in which he approaches his friends, and the unique way in which he handles himself, have won him a host of friends. We predict for him a great future.

A friend when a friend is needed, a sincere Christian gentleman at all times, and he is able and willing to serve. He has made a success as a teacher, as a county superintendent as well as all other activities in which he has entered. We need more like him.

MRS. J. W. TAYLOR Booneville, Mississippi

English

President Domestic Affairs Club.

When we think of her ability, efficiency, unselfish service, sincerity of purpose, devotion to duty, strength of character, beauty of soul, and the super qualities which make her a "good sport," we are led to exclaim, "what a woman!"

"She is active, stirring, all afire, Cannot rest, cannot tire."

Did anyone ever see Alma Lee sitting entirely quiet in a corner thinking? Well, I believe not. Alma Lee is entirely too full of action and the joy of living. She is never gloomy nor blue, because to her there is always a silver lining to the darkest cloud.

English

Sherwood Bonner Literary Society, Glee Club, '27, '28, '29; Treasurer Y. W. C. A., '28; World Affairs Club, '29; Epworth League, Member Field Co-operative Club.

Fannie is another of these quiet girls who spends her time thinking and doing rather than saying. She is a splendid product of the English room and a "shark" at many other things. One who is a faithful, loyal and true friend—that is Fannie.

ROBERT LEE WOODS Phoenix, Mississippi

Social Science

Prestonian Literary Society, Football, '26, '27, '28; "M" Club, '26, '27, '28; Y. M. C. A. Cabinet, '29; Business Manager "Neka Camon," '29.

Bobbie Lee hails from the good old county of Yazoo. He is a thinker, a doer, a friend, frank, ambitious and dependable; a born leader of men and women, athletically and socially inclined.

MARIE MOORE Amory, Mississippi
English

Secretary Epworth League, '27; Member Mississippian Literary Society.

Marie's temper never gets ruffled. She is gracious to everybody. We have not decided whether her perfect poise or her lovely profile is her richest gift. She learns psychology readily and teaches with equal ease twelfth grade English in the Demonstration School. Where is there another like her?

F. E. DAVIS Leakesville, Mississippi

"Mac" is a jovial, though serious, hardworking fellow and is always striving to encourage everything that is for the good of the group. His going away will mean a great loss to the college, but a great gain to the community that secures his services.

MARTHA ELIZABETH GIBSON Hickory, Mississippi
Home Economics

Sherwood Bonner Literary Society, '29; Secretary Senior Class, '29; Vice-President Home Economics Club, '29.

The class of '29 is proud to claim "Lib" as one of its most worthy members. She is a hard worker and is ever true to her class and fellow students. Only by a close and personal friendship can a person know the real worth of this student.

S. GWENDOLEN ELLIS Ocean Springs, Mississippi
English

Reporter Junior Class, '28; Reporter B. S. U., '28; Committeeman Feild Co-operative Club, '28; First Vice-President B. S. U., '29; Chairman of Feild Co-operative Club, '29; President Mississippian Literary Society, '29.

Gwendolen is in a class to herself. She is a combination of integrity, determination, sincerity, loyalty, originality, thoroughness, patience and pep. Her hobby is making faces—on paper. Few have equalled her; none have surpassed her.

L. G. PHILLIPS Dennis, Mississippi
Social Science

Platonian Literary Society, President Platonian Literary Society, '27; World Affairs Club.

Phillips is a serious-minded man and should make his way in the world in his quiet and unobtrusive way.

HAZEL YAGER Columbia, Mississippi
English

Sherwood Bonner Literary Society, '25, '29; Y. W. C. A. Cabinet, '28; Glee Club, '26, '29; B. S. U. Council, '27, '28, '29.

Into Hazel has been incorporated those fine qualities of life that make for success. Her life, though broad and full, may be summarized in these words:

*"Always faithful, kind and true,
Looking for something good to do."*

As an earnest student, a hard worker, and a loyal friend, "Bill" is unexcelled. He puts his best into everything that he undertakes. It is probably unfair to say that "Bill" has a feminine weakness, but he admits that 'tis better to have loved and lost than never to have loved at all."

FRANCES LOUISE HARDIN Brookhaven, Mississippi

History

Mississippian Literary Society, World Affairs Club, Vice-President Senior Class, '29.

Her wisdom, personality and humor make her an individual and a favorite, a true sport in everything.

A. E. BRADLEY Neely, Mississippi

Social Science and History

Member Y. M. C. A., Chaplain Prestonian Literary Society, '29; Member B. Y. P. U.

Bradley is persistent; he has been with us off and on for so long that we barely remember when he first made connection. He is a real good fellow and one we will always be glad to remember.

ADELE MARIE BIELENBERG Pass Christian, Mississippi
English

Mississippian Literary Society, '29; Glee Club, '29; Y. W. C. A., '29.

Adele hails from the coast. She is an eager, progressive student with high ideals, gentle manners, and a readiness to co-operate in everything that is good.

LULA WEBB Magnolia, Mississippi
Mathematics

Vice-President Mississippian Literary Society, '22; President Mississippian Literary Society Summer Quarter, '26; Member of World Affairs Club.

Individual in both ways and looks, she has proven herself capable and dependable in her duties—and besides all that she finds time for the frivolous.

MRS. LULA J. THOMAS Piave, Mississippi
Home Economics

Member Home Economics Club, Member Sherwood Bonner Literary Society.

"When Joy and Duty clash, Let Duty go to smash."

MILDRED ALFORD Magnolia, Mississippi

History

Glee Club, '25; World Affairs Club, '28, '29; President Sherwood Bonner Literary Society, '29; Senior Representative Home Economics Club, '29; President B. Y. P. U., '26; Eastern Star.

*"To see her is to love her,
And love her but forever,
For nature made her what she is,
...And made another never."*

This is a good description of Mildred, for she is made up of the qualities that make us all love her.

Since "Bick" came into the ranks of our class we have come to admire him as a musician, a student and a gentleman. By his ever-willingness to help and work he has won for himself a host of friends.

Senior Class History

WE ARE HERE" were the words uttered by General Pershing as he stood at the tomb of Lafayette. These words shone on our faces one beautiful September morning four long years ago when we entered State Teachers College, which we now call Alma Mater. We were greeted with a glad welcome by those who were to take us, mould us, and make us. That morning we beheld a rainbow in the sky and started our search, not for the pot of gold, but for the pot of knowledge.

The first year united our class with a kindred spirit, so that we have traveled, with the confidence of each other, onward toward the ultimate goal.

Vacation passed and the day dawned for us to return to this institution, not as Freshmen, but as Sophomores. Our work this year became more serious. We were now able to get a keener insight into the future and see the significance and the necessity for a college education. At the end of the half-way mark in our college career came vacation, but pleasant memories of our two years lingered with us.

The following autumn we returned to the same beautiful campus "Neath the Whispering Pines" to begin the second half of this serious task which we had undertaken. As a class we have not only engaged in our studies but also participated in the religious, social, and athletic activities of the college.

In September, 1928, we came to S. T. C. as "dignified seniors." This year our class enrolled sixty-eight members, as great men and women as S. T. C. has ever known. Many of our campus organizations are led by seniors and we have been prominently represented among the football heroes. The senior class of '29 here pays tribute to our football classmen, S. A. (Bill) Brassfield, F. E. (Tiny) Davis, Robert Lee Woods and O. A. McKnight. We are also devoted to V. S. Jackson, Jr., because of his previous services in athletics. He was unable to play football this year on account of the fact that he was injured in a baseball game last year, however, he was elected football manager.

We are happy to be nearing the goal which will leave us prepared to enter the field of experience. Now, as we go out of these glory-enshrined halls, we can turn a retrospective eye on the past four years and hope that the future will be as pleasant, as happy, and as inspiring. May the bonds and ties of friendship never break, and may our united effort for a "Greater State Teachers College" never fail.

BERTHA REYNOLDS, Historian.

Senior Class Poem

*Four years of dreams and
Work with victory crowned,
Four years with golden chains
Of friendship bound,
Four years of youth that
Knew the blessings rare*

*Of our loved Alma Mater's
Fostering care—
These years now gleam, bright
Through a mist of tears,
Rainbows of promise for
All future years.*

Senior Class Prophecy

HAD A DREAM about the class of 1929—Ye that believe in dreams, read and ponder. I thought it was the year 1950 and I was investigating the success of my classmates.

Behold! R. D. McLendon, president of the class, is now the head of the largest book publishing company in the world. He says he got his inspiration while working in the bookstore at S. T. C.

The vice-president, Frances Hardin, is visiting in Holland, where her Dutch Bob causes much excitement.

The capable, attractive secretary, Elizabeth Gibson, is not now a secretary, but a treasurer. She has married.

The historian, Bertha Reynolds, holds a position with the Carnegie Endowment Association as guide to the Ph.D's from the universities of America to show them how to see Europe properly.

The class poet, Crystine Jackson, has sent her latest book to the R. D. McLendon Publishing Company.

Mildred Alford, who made such a success as president of the Sherwood Bonner Literary Society, is running for president of the United States against R. A. Anderson, who also made a notable record at S. T. C. A close race is expected as is shown by the fact that betting odds are about even.

Gladys Batson is a musician. She turns away many offers to do concert work.

G. G. Bickerstaff is planning to do concert work. He is the father of triplets and when their voices change a better quartette will grace the stages of the world.

Adele Beilenberg has "turned professional." She is captain of "The Girl Wonders," a basketball team. Rumor says that Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney will fight for the honor of managing this team.

A. E. Bradley and W. D. Brewer have formed a partnership for conducting a "Select Training School" for national tennis champions. They guarantee at least one member of the Davis Cup Team each year.

S. A. Brassfield spends much time raising bird dogs and regards his job as head coach at Harvard as a side line.

Velma Bryant is head librarian at a public library in New York City.

Edna Lois Bullock still claims that Poplarville is the best town on earth, although she lives in New York, since Dr. Erskine got her to teach music in the Juillard Foundation School.

Lollie Calhoun married a man who pays all her bills and buys her fine dresses with laces and frills.

Hazel Coney is married and the ability which she displayed as secretary of the Sherwood Bonner Society is now used in helping her husband keep track of his money.

H. M. Craft has quit his wild ways, settled down and is now superintendent of a Sunday School.

Fred Davis is football coach at Yale.

Alma Lee Denman did what every one knew she would do. She married Rodney and has been "happy ever after."

Gwendolin Ellis has achieved her ambition to become a missionary. She will return to the United States next year and give illustrated lectures.

Eunice Fleming entered the movies and has usurped the place of Mary Pickford as America's Sweetheart.

Mrs. J. B. George is the "best friend and severest critic of J. B." Through her influence students of George College are allowed to smoke cigarettes.

Ida Jo. Hemphill is taking fat reducing.

Sara Hill is teaching the fourth grade in Hollywood's school for movie children.

V. S. Jackson, who is manager of the New York Giants, expects to win the World Series.

Max Johnson is the banker in his home town and since he holds mortgages on everyone's property, is also a political boss.

Emma Landin is leading a reform movement to oust Mr. Johnson from his position. She will make startling disclosures and eventually become the boss herself.

Sadie Lyle is now dietitian for Campbell Co., and has concocted a new soup.

Mabel McGee turns down all offers to pose for artists and has decided that she cares to have only one man to appreciate her dimple cheeks.

Lucille McLaughlin is head of the commercial work at the Greeg School in Chicago.

Mabel McLean has returned to her native Florida and is writing a cook book of Southern recipes.

Myrtis McMahan, who succeeded so well in English at the Demonstration School, is writing a book on "How to Teach English."

E. C. McNeil is managing the largest chain of theaters in America. They are known as "The McNeil Superfect Picture Palaces."

Hattie Bea Maples has embarked upon the sea of matrimony with her sailor. "Peace be still."

Abe Martin says he intends to remain married.

Marie Moore found it hard to choose between a career and marriage; she compromised by choosing both.

Eelzie Penn did not accept Paul Whiteman's offer of a position in his band. She organized one of her own and he now wants to consolidate the two.

B. G. Raden has also made use of his musical training. He plays the bass horn in Sousa's band.

J. I. Rankin is converting the heathen in Africa. His broadcasting station has interested the world in his work.

M. L. Richardson is Court Barber to a king in South Africa. He has been decorated with all the orders of the kingdom for his efforts to save his majesty's hair from the ravages of dandruff.

Fannie Segrest is editor of the National Geographic Magazine. She says she owes her position to Miss Emily Jones.

Mrs. C. M. Sigler gives all the credit to S. T. C. for her recent election as the "most representative clubwoman and mother."

Wilma Smith and her husband are assisting Rankin in his efforts to convert the heathen.

Pauline Stennis has turned her talent for debating to practical use and is a famous lawyer. If Mildred Alford is elected president she has promised Pauline the place of Attorney General.

Louise Stevens, however, is politicking for R. A. Anderson, who has promised her this place if elected.

J. W. Taylor enjoyed editing the Annual of '29 so much that he wrote a book on the subject, "How to Be a Successful Editor." Mrs. Taylor also wrote one on "The Trials and Tribulations of an Editor's Wife."

R. L. Thompson is in the Arctic looking for some kind of an animal he learned about in Biology. Mrs. Thompson is with him, but spends her time writing poetry.

Mrs. Lula Thomas refuses many offers to indorse products in the ads since her son became Jackie Coogan, II.

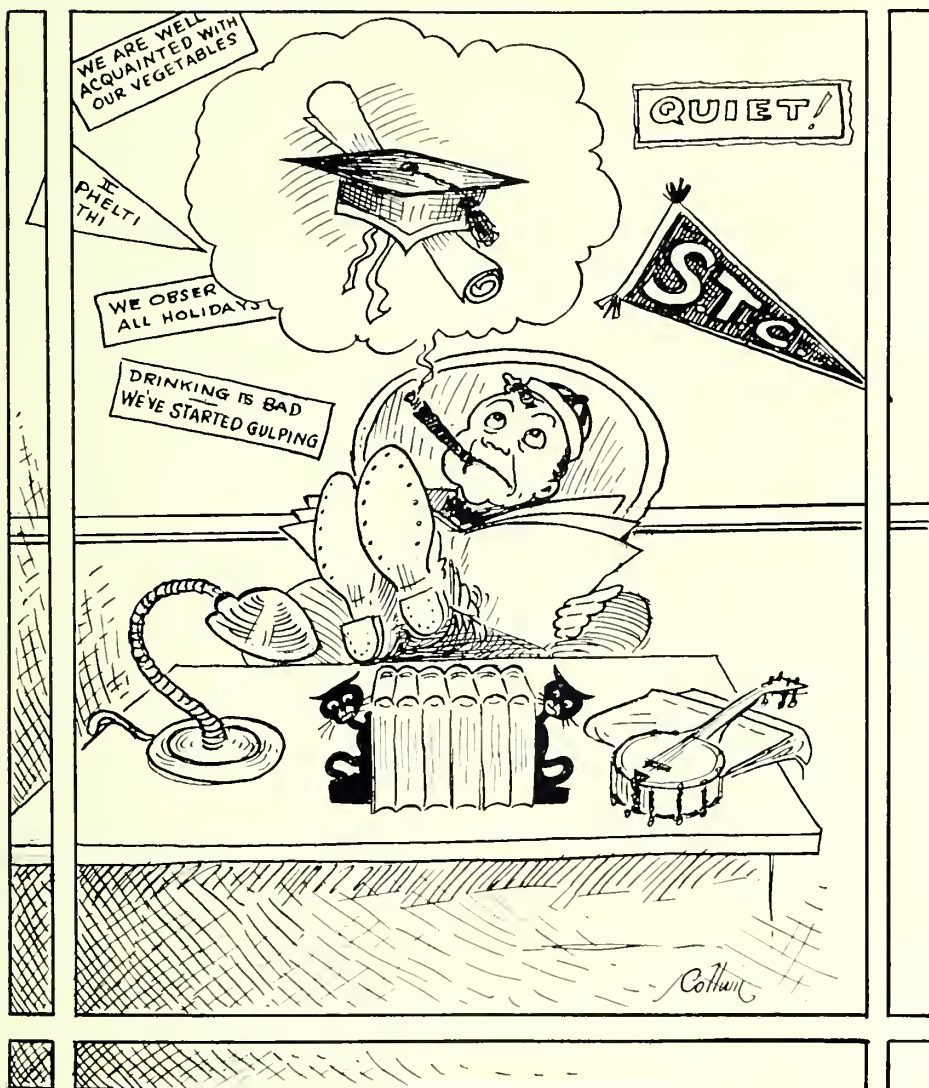

Edrie Turner has proved that "still water runs deep." Her husband is one man who knows who is boss.

Velma Woods says she owes her ability as a good housekeeper to the Domestic Science Department at S. T. C. Her husband says he believes it is a gift from heaven.

Hazel Yager conducts the Book Review of the "New York Times," and as a side line, writes short stories.

Marion Institute Downs Yellow- jackets In One- sided Battle

Teachers of Marion Institute...
The Cadet backs ran wild on and runs and returning pants. They could not be shot into until a grand total of 25 points had been amassed.

The superior strength of the Alabama team was largely due to their plentiful supply of reserves, the task of which was the Yellowjackets' chief weakness. Although at first sight the team's would seem disadvantageous, it must be remembered that Marion has a strong team building among other things.

MISSISSIPPIAN LITERARY SOCIETY GROUP

Mississippian Literary Society

The Mississippian Literary Society was organized in 1913 as the sister of the Platonian Literary Society. Since that date this organization has endeavored to develop leadership, which is essential to the success of a teacher. In the summer of 1928, a new constitution was adopted. Miss Hickman, a former sponsor, expressed the present creed of the Society in the following words, which are repeated at the close of each meeting: "May loyalty to ideals and faithfulness in work make us richer in friendship and in culture."

Platonian Representatives in Inter-Society Debate

Platonian Literary Society

Jowett said: "The germs of all ideas, even of most Christian ones, are to be found in Plato." We are proud of a name from the great Athenian philosopher who was born 2355 years ago.

Realizing the wonderful benefits derived from our Platonian Society since it was organized here in 1912, we can more fully realize the great storehouse of moral worth we were delayed in acquiring previous to this date. As we live each day we see the need of gaining a richer understanding of life's necessities that we may perfect ourselves in leadership and citizenship—that we may contribute to society our portion of a never-dying soul. It is the good that we are able to do that counts, that which we spread abroad, and it is the truth of the ages that gives us this good. It is the real goal toward which we aspire; and

*In "this pathway toward reality" let us tread;
Through ages our deeds shall live on, though we are dead.*

*Oh, Sherwood Bonners are always true,
 I'm glad I'm one of you,
 I'm glad to say you've got the pluck
 That brings good luck,
 We've got the pep
 We watch our step
 Just the way to make a rep;
 We do the best that's done,
 And have a lot of fun,
 In this our dear ole Alma Mater,
 When we become old ladies gray,
 We'll dream and smile and say:
 That's where we had our fun,
 In the Sherwood Bonner Society.*

Prestonian Literary Society

The history of State Teachers College records no greater student achievement than the establishment of its literary societies. The Prestonian Literary Society has evidenced this fact by its development along the lines of its basic principles; the creation of a spirit of fraternity among its members, training in public speaking, parliamentary procedure, and a general refinement in all the many lines of culture which tend to better prepare one serve his fellowman. It has been the aim of the members of this society to obtain that intellectual development not obtainable in any outlined course of study or textbook.

The future holds great opportunities as well as great responsibilities for the Prestonian Literary Society, but there is every assurance that there will continue to exist the same dynamic force of influence which it now holds, and we believe it will grow stronger with the years.

 And we are proud of it, too,

 May we so live that the other things
 Be of priceless worth and true.*

A Group of Commercial Students

Because of the growing demand for teachers of business subjects in high schools, the Commercial Department has for its primary purpose that of training teachers. Several students have selected Commerce as a major or minor, and are earnestly preparing themselves for teachers in this work. There are a number of commercial teachers in Mississippi who received their training here.

This department also offers a course which prepares students for positions as stenographers and bookkeepers.

J. P. HACKNEY

Quarterback

HATTIESBURG, MISSISSIPPI

Age 22 Weight 160

Captain "Nonie," playing his third year for the Yellow Jackets, is one of the best athletes S. T. C. has ever had. He was one of those unfortunates who had to retire because of major injuries. He has worked hard on the gridiron, and next year we expect him to play a big part in producing the best team S. T. C. has ever had.

H. McMAHON

Center

EATONVILLE, MISSISSIPPI

Age 23 Weight 170

Homer, captain-elect, is one of the real football players around whom Coach Saunders built his team. "Mc's" hard tackling on the defense and ability to open holes on the offense stamps him as a star par excellence. This is his third year of brilliant playing for old S. T. C., and much is expected of him next year.

E. M. BILBO

Halfback

HATTIESBURG, MISSISSIPPI

Age 19 Weight 150

Although Billy was nominated for "Handsomest Boy," he certainly can absorb some shocks. Playing consistent ball the entire season, he was known as the toughest man in the backfield.

G. J. BISHOP

Fullback

HATTIESBURG, MISSISSIPPI

Age 19 Weight 185

Jack, the big boy of the backfield, was crowded out this season by more experienced men. Bishop showed up well when he played, and we are expecting great things of him next year.

S. A. BRASFIELD

End

HATTIESBURG, MISSISSIPPI

Age 19 Weight 175

Bill was a mainstay in the Teachers' offense, and constantly snatched passes out of the air for gains. To make a long story short, he is a receiver with no superiors and very few equals. His graduation will leave a gap which will be hard to fill.

F. E. DAVIS

Tackle

HAMILTON, MISSISSIPPI

Age 24 Weight 201

"Tiny" has been a tower of strength in the Yellow Jackets' line for four years, and his all-round good play stood out in every game. It was a common occurrence to see "Tiny" break through the opponents' line and throw them for losses. It is with deepest regret that S. T. C. bids farewell to her "best all-round athlete of '29."

J. W. DAVIS

Halfback

DEKALB, MISSISSIPPI

Age 21 Weight 160

S. T. C. will have no trouble finding quarterbacks next year. "Peck," who previously played end, was shifted to the backfield this year, and developed into a passer, runner, and field general de luxe. His passing was especially brilliant in the Southwestern game. Great things are expected of "Peck" next year.

J. H. CHRESTMAN

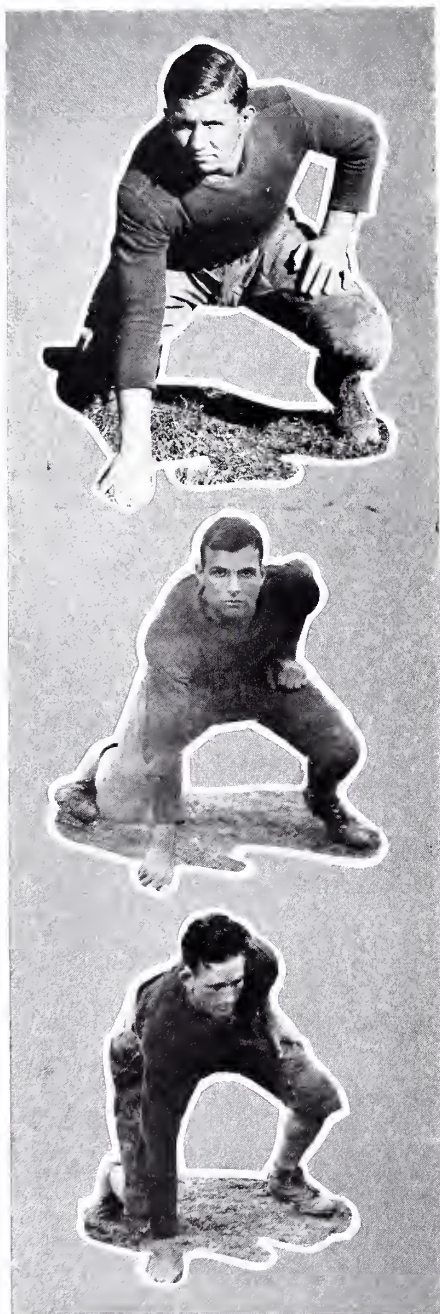

Guard

CALHOUN CITY, MISSISSIPPI

Age 26 Weight 160

Chrestman, in his first year out, has made a fine showing on the varsity. He made up for the lack of experience by hard fighting; and many times the opposing backs rushed him only to be nailed in their tracks.

W. F. CHILDERS

Tackle

VANCE, MISSISSIPPI

Age 24 Weight 180

A man who carries 180 pounds of fight and ability, always there, always in the way of the opposing team, a man that could play on anybody's team, a man whom any coach would be glad to get—"this is Bill." He has three years of ball to his credit, and his place will be hard to fill.

P. P. FLANAGAN

Guard

DEKALB, MISSISSIPPI

Age 20 Weight 165

With more scrap than ability, and yet with more ability than the average player, P. P. was one of the most valuable men in the line. This was Flanagan's third year as a regular, and he will be back next season.

A. B. FLEMING

Guard

CRANDALL, MISSISSIPPI

Age 23 Weight 162

The will is there, the ability is there, the man is there; experience only is lacking. "Red's power is hard to over-estimate. He will be needed next year.

W. C. GARDNER

Halfback

WHEELER, MISSISSIPPI

Age 21 Weight 140

Clarence saw quite a bit of service as half and quarterback this season, and will put in strong bid next year for a regular berth in the back-field. He was one of the fleetest backs to appear in South Mississippi this season. We will welcome Gardner in next year's eleven.

T. A. JACKSON

Fullback

MACON, MISSISSIPPI

Age 19 Weight 154

"Tom" is one of these steady men who is always playing the game. Tom entered the Mississippi College game when the big Choctaws began plunging over the injured Yellow Jackets—and then the plunging ceased. His hard tackling, blocking, and determined scrapping won for him a big place in the hearts of the football fans.

O. A. McKNIGHT

End

RINGOLD, LOUISIANA

Age 21 Weight 170

"Mac" has played his last football game for S. T. C. He came here without previous experience in the game, and did not go out his first year. He put up three years of honest endeavor, never rising to heights of stardom, but always consistent.

F. A. McLendon

Halfback

QUITMAN, MISSISSIPPI

Age 21 Weight 170

Frank, a former "Choctaw," came to us this year and won a berth early in the season, due to his ability in the backfield. He is a tireless worker and conscientious in his duties. We can rest assured that with Frank's dependable football ability he will be one of the brightest lights of the team for the next two years.

L. D. Megehee

End

PICAYUNE, MISSISSIPPI

Age 21 Weight 168

Megehee, a long, lanky boy that blew in from Picayune, punts with an average of fifty yards, and throws passes that usually find a resting place in the arms of his teammates. An end that in many cases handles not only the opposing interference, but also the man with the ball. A bundle of bones and the material mixed in that coaches like to get, and we thank our lucky stars that we have him for two more years.

R. L. Woods

Halfback

PHOENIX, MISSISSIPPI

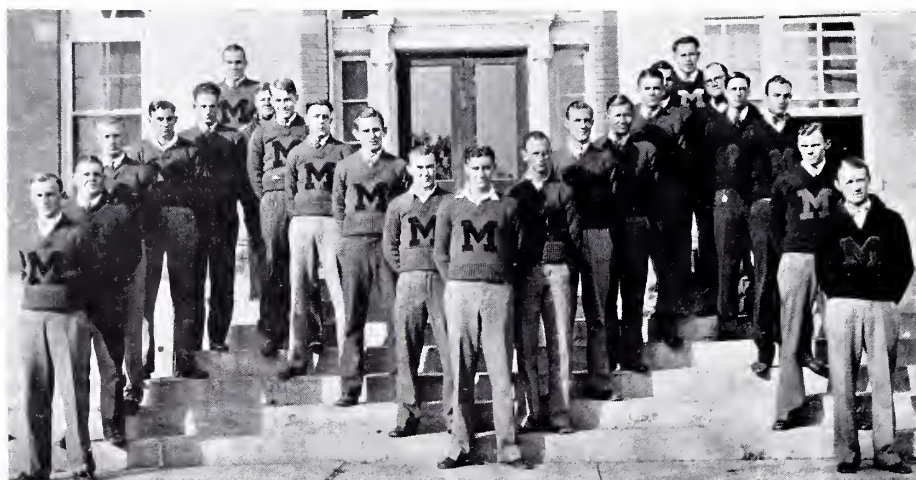

Age 22 Weight 150

"Bob," after playing two years at end, was shifted to halfback. He is fast, tricky, and picks his holes; gains ground consistently, and is hard to stop. Bob has played his last game for the "Teachers," and will certainly be missed when the roll is called next year.

VARSITY BASKETBALL SQUAD

Basketball for Girls

Basketball at S. T. C. is open to all girls who desire to play, regardless of age, size, or "previous conditions of servitude." During the fall quarter we had no teams, but a course in basketball coaching was given for credit. During the winter quarter enough girls went out for practice to develop several teams, the total number of girls being about sixty-six. From this group came the class teams, the freshmen being the winners in the inter-class tournament. The best from these class teams were chosen as the "varsity eleven." Much of the teams' success is due to the consistent training of the two assistant coaches, "Bill" Childres, coach for freshmen and sophomores, and "Perk" Flanagan, junior and senior coach. This year we have an unusually strong line-up, and competition was keen for places on the regular team. To the girls whose names follow is due our appreciation for our fine sportsmanship: Doyle, Lockler, Burkhalter, Hollis, Jackson, Goodwin, Moak, Caldwell, Robins, Morice, and Miller.

FLETA DOYLE

Running Center

*Here's to the Captain of '29,
One of the best in the all-round line.*

After having played one year on the team, Fleta was elected as captain of the 1928-29 Teacherettes. Fleta is one of the best all-round co-ed athletes, standing out in every phase of sports entered by the fair sex, and was one of the outstanding members of the first line-up.

MARY ALICE LOCKLER

Forward

Among the peppiest players of this season is Alternating Captain Lockler. She played better basketball during the past season than ever before, and that is saying something, for she has been a fighter all the way through. Her work as forward had a lot to do with the team's success.

JOHNNYE JACKSON

Forward

Although this was Johnnye's first year on the team, she stood out as one of the best forwards. Her eye for the basket and her all-round good playing opened up a berth in the first choice line-up. We are glad that her basketball career has just begun.

GERTRUDE BURKHALTER

Forward

They just don't make 'em any better than Burkhalter. As a center she stood out alone. She is now a star forward, and one of the best to be found. Although she usually gets a finger hurt, it does not interfere with her method of "shooting," which has won for her the admiration of all the fans.

CLAUDIA MILLER

Guard

Not so fast, but always dependable. In short, we can call her "Stonewall Miller," for she gets into the game and she stops the ball.

"Zo" HOLLIS

Jumping Center

We believe that a high-speed motion picture of "Zo" in action would be merely a blur, and game by game we have thanked our lucky stars for a center that played with such "far-reaching" effect.

NANCY MORICE

Running Center

Nancy is another good center who was sent in many times during the season. She played a good game, feeding the ball to her forwards with remarkable speed and accuracy. She played a hard game all the way through, and was on hand for all the trips made.

ELSIE MOAK

Forward

Elsie, though small in stature, is a fast and accurate forward, and gives any guard a chase. She is, in fact, about as easy to guard as a drop of mercury. Watch her.

NESSIE CALDWELL

Forward

Nessie soon shows up in the game by her accurate "shooting" at the goal. Distance and position do not matter; when she shoots, the ball just naturally seems to fall into the basket.

MARY KATE GOODWIN

Guard

Mary Kate has done excellent work this year. Close guarding and accurate passing distinguish her playing, and she is a never-give-up part of the team.

DEMONSTRATION SCHOOL SECTION

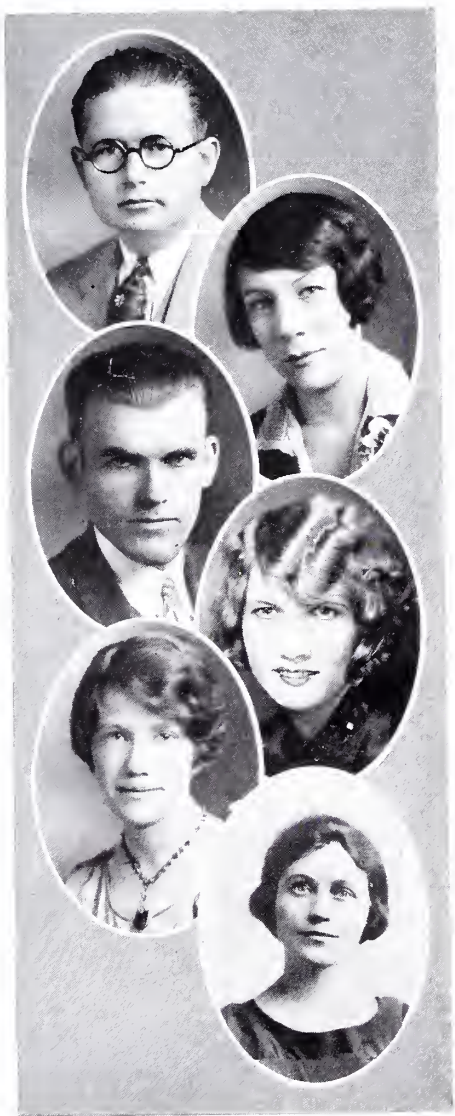

Demonstration School

Seventeen years ago, when the State Teachers College was begun, educational practices were quite different from those of today. There has been a growing need for a real laboratory, where the college students could put into practice the theories promulgated in the methods courses. The need has been met by erecting a Demonstration School building and securing trained experts for every phase of work carried on. The continuous procession of students, observers, participants, and visitors that come every day proves that the real practice is indispensable.

The building is an $85,000 single story, red brick building, modern, and built according to advanced ideas of school architecture. The equipment cost an additional $20,000. The building is divided into three units, the elementary department consisting of six rooms, the junior high school of four rooms, and the senior high school of four rooms. There is a large library room, and one of the best school libraries to be found anywhere. At present the enrollment is held at three hundred thirty-two pupils—one hundred sixty-six in the first six grades and one hundred sixty-six in the junior and senior high schools.

It is the aim of the Demonstration School to have a representative body which does not eliminate the problem cases. The student teachers meet with a situation which is just as natural as they will meet upon entering actively into the teaching service. There is a balanced program of all phases of athletic and literary work.
